Splendid Progress And Prospects At Cardston Gas Well Site

In as much as considerable interest is evidenced at present in the oil well now drilling at Cardston, a little story of the structure, geologically, the stock set up of the well, and the progress to date may be interesting to our readers.

The well now drilling is on one of the most promising structures in the south half of the province, and which geologists say parallels the Cutbank field in Montana, where 3,000 barrels of crude per day is now being produced. The well at the beginning of the week was down 752 feet, and drillers expect that some where between 800 and 1,000 feet the bit will drill into a commercial flow of gas.

There are few structures in Alberta in which geologists have more faith than in this structure, and when geologists, drillers, tool dressers, and salesmen officials of all sorts, will all forego cash for their services and work for stock in the company, it is pretty good evidence that they have faith in the venture. Such is the case with the Cardston well.

Coping from the report of the well by oil men and officials we take the following:

"The market for gas is not limited. The town of Cardston as it grows will be an ever-increasing market, and with the company's exclusive franchise, the geologist Mr. George D. Mackie, M.E.L.C., good profits will accrue to the company. Still large markets for the sale of gas are now controlled by the company, which augurs well for its success, if a huge gusher is obtained."

"Quoting a letter of August 29 last from R. G. Taylor of Douglas, Wyoming, a prominent oil operator and engineer, he says, 'I feel sure you are going to open a field on the Cardston structure and I trust it will be a good field to remunerate our stockholders in splendid shape. You certainly have a good organization of men and the stock holders and investors will have a real run for their money. I wish it were possible for me to be with you and take an active part in this development.'"

"It was of interest to note that Stebenger's report of the north Montana anticlines could be applied to the Southwestern Alberta anticlines and his report is very favorable for the accumulation of both gas and oil. The Cardston structure and the Cutbank field are the same, and the St. Mary's River and then extend over into the north Montana field, largely parallel to the mountains."

New Field Seen

"There is no question but what the drilling at Cardston is the beginning of a new oil and gas field for Alberta. When Turner Valley came in and the good old days were experienced when shares were bought and sold with ease and gusto, Calgary grew by nearly 30,000 people, or added nearly 50 per cent to its population in just a few years. What Turner Valley has been to Calgary, the Cardston oil fields would be to Lethbridge. The entire south country is bound to feel the tremendous impetus in the growth and financial importance when this field is drilled in. Properties that have lain dormant for years may find themselves, overnight, of value to their owners."

Stock Structure

"The stock structure of Franco Oils is unlike the usual oil company. It is not selling stock for the purpose of making money out of stock sales. All of its officers and directors are working without salary. The drillers, tool dressers, firemen etc., are working on a basis of half to two thirds stock in the company and the balance in cash. The services of its chief geologist, whose fees usually run from one hundred to two hundred dollars per day, are obtained without cash payment, the only expectation of a reward being through the enhanced value of the stock as gas and oil are discovered. Every person connected with the company is putting his heart and soul as well as his money into this development."

"Instead of issuing 75 per cent of the stock in its treasury for future development and is issuing and selling only about 25 per cent, which will pay for all expenses of organization and legal expenses for all leases, government, C.P.R., and private lands; and pay for the present equipment and casing and hole, which is drilled to date, which equipment, derrick etc., is worth approximately $35,000. In the sale of stock offered to the public often the promoters say what they are going to do. This company says 'We are doing it.' The hole is down several hundred feet, the casing is on the ground, the crew is drilling night and day, and every dollar placed with this company for stock is going directly into the development and exploration work and is not being used for any other purpose."

It can thus be seen that people are not paying 75% of their money for promotion when they buy stock in this company as it is all going into actual drilling of the hole. There is an opportunity now to buy this stock at 50 cents per share. Naturally as soon as a flow of commercial gas is struck, the stock will either be taken from off the market, or will only be offered at several times their present value. True, there remains the element of chance in any oil venture but where a market is already assured for gas in the town of Cardston, it is a far safer bet to buy stock in the Franco Oils, than in those who have no such market."

Then too, what the Sugar industry has meant to Raymond, this oil venture means to Cardston, and as many Cardston people assisted in getting the Factory established here, so we should reciprocate by assisting with our financial support in at least proving the possibilities of the oil-bearing anticlines of Cardston. If this field proves productive, Southern Alberta will see the biggest boom in its history."

See some of the men selling Franco Oil stock, and at least get the details of the set up and the possibilities of the field. This much will cost you nothing. Read the ad. in this week's Recorder."

Dr. Stewart Speaks To Board Of Trade

The regular Board of Trade meeting on Monday night was featured by a very interesting and educational address by Dr. J. S. Stewart, M.P., Lethbridge, who addressed an audience of 30 odd on legislation passed at the last Dominion parliament, and touched in his talk, the loan to the C.P.R., The Central Bank Farm Debt Adjustment Act, and the Marketing Act. Dr. Stewart's talk occupied about one hour and fifteen minutes, but there was no one but what could have listened longer and thoroughly enjoyed it all.

The regular business of the meeting was dispensed with, and Dr. Stewart had all the time. Speaking of the loan to the Canadian Pacific Railway, he stated that maturing debentures in the United States made it necessary for the C.P.R. to pay $60,000,000, which could not be extended. The banks would not loan the money, and the note was endorsed by the Dominion Government. This was done. The Dominion had not put up one penny of money, and did not expect to, at the ready $12,500,000 of the loan had been repaid, and as soon as debentures could be marketed profitably, the balance would be paid. So people could rest easy as regards this question.

The Central bank set-up was one thing, and the speaker thought that semi-public semi-private nature of the organization was as near ideal as could be found. The history of publicly owned institutions was not too bright, and he felt that a certain amount of private interest was necessary. The Hon. R. B. Bennett was taking full responsibility for the set-up, and the speaker lauded Graham Towers, an outstanding authority on banking, who had been scorned as Manager. He felt that many of the evils which had existed in banking would be partly overcome, and that the Central Bank would result in cheaper money, and better regulated flow of credit. Don't get the idea, he said, that the Central Bank will be a cure all. This is not the expectation of those behind the move.

The Farm Debt Adjustment Act was paving the way for a new start on the part of many farmers, who without it would be forced off the land, because of excessive interest charges, and outstanding accounts beyond their possibility of paying in the midst of present conditions. Under the set-up, the farmer places the facts of his financial obligations and possibilities before the representative of the Dominion Government, and then the creditors were called together, and a round table discussion held, at which things were discussed, and in nearly every case a satisfactory arrangement was arrived at. In event of not being able to reach a satisfactory compromise, there was a board of three in Alberta to decide and render a decision in the case. $40 land cannot be paid for with 50c wheat, and loaners realize that they must take part of the loss or lose everything.

The Dominion Marketing Act, was explained in some of its outstanding points, and briefly said the speaker, it was merely a step toward orderly marketing, and if adhered to would result in bringing more stability to the market for primary products, and would have more of the consumer's dollars reach the producer. The day of tremendous fortunes in merchandising, shipping, and such service were gone, said the speaker. When any man amasses a fortune of 50 or 60 millions in manufacturing, shipping or oppression, and these practices must cease. One may call it socialism, or any other name they desire, the time has arrived for the primary producer to share in more of the consumer's dollar and the Marketing Act would result in just this thing.

The experience of the flue tobacco growers in Ontario was cited, where they contracted at 35c. per pound, and the buyers told them in the harvest time they would give them 17, or else the growers would keep their product. These practices would definitely cease under the Marketing Act. The success of the British Columbia fruit growers was cited, and the fact that the Poultry producers were asking to come under the Act, and the Livestock Pool considering joining up, was pretty good proof of that the Act was sound, and was getting good results all the way round, and he expected that the scope of the Act would be extended to include practically all production for the benefit of the producer, which would soon be reflected in better times for all, debts being paid, and everyone contented and happy.

A question period followed the address and a hearty round of applause was tendered the speaker to show the appreciation of the audience for his talk.

Mrs. Ray Bullock Lucky Winner Thursday Night

Late News From The Oil Well

Drilling is proceeding steadily the bit now being down 950 feet, in a shale like formation, that is very satisfactory to the drillers and shareholders. The hole is going down about 50 feet every 24 hours, and there is tenseness of expectancy as each foot is made in the descent. Somewhere between 900 and 1,200 feet some changes are looked for, according to the records of other wells that have drilled through the same formation, and just what the blow-in might be is what everyone is speculating on.

Material is being assembled for a second series on the well, and as the present hole is so soon as the present hole is proven, work will start on a deep test, at well No. 2. Directors are optimistic and enthusiastic over the prospects, and are hardly sleeping at night, so tense is the atmosphere as the bit bites deeper and deeper into the earth.

A last minute report of the progress and doings at the well will be printed in each issue of the Recorder. Watch for it.

Welling News

Primary Conference was held here, Sunday evening Dec. 2nd, with a large attendance, and members of the Stake Board present. Nearly every child in the Primary took part in the program, which was practically all by the children. Special mention should be made of the reading by Lillian Bullock.

The Ward Conference was held at 2 p.m. Sunday, when the ward members attended nearly 100% to listen to the advice and instructions of the Stake Presidency, who are always welcome in Welling. A number of changes were made in the officers of the ward, among them being the following:

Alvin F. Bullock was sustained as Second Counsellor in the Bishopric in place of Sheridan Summers, who was released.

Mrs. David Bullock was sustained as 2nd counsellor in the Primary Association.

Kenneth Wilde was sustained as second Counsellor and Eldon Peterson as Secretary of the Y.M.M.I.A.

Miss Loreen Wilde was made Secretary of the Y.L.M.I.A.

On Friday, November 30th, London, Ontario; Sydney, Australia; and Battle Creek, Michigan.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Peterson, in honor of the birthday of the former. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Summers and Vialo, and Mr. and Mrs. K. M. William.

The married people of the Ward met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Williams on Wednesday evening last, and enjoyed a pleasant evening of games and conversation.

Couch grass is an extremely difficult weed to kill with so many different and the practice is not recommended by the Field Experiment Station, Dominion Department of Agriculture, unless under exceptional circumstances. Usually three sprayings of a two per cent solution are required, using 100 gallons per acre. The cost of this material, say at 10 cents a pound, would be $30 an acre, prohibitive for all ordinary conditions.

The weather on Thursday and Friday was just about made to order. Second warders maintained this was because the Carnival was on.

The second Ward Carnival opened Thursday night amidst revelry, gaiety and bright lights with the usual run of games, and several new ones added. There was a surprisingly large crowd on hand for the opening, and everyone joined in the spirit of the occasion.

"Mutt" Ralph won the first door prize drawn for and the other 29 were well scattered around. The big moment of the night came when the drawing took place at 1 a. m. for the $100 prize of the night, and there was a deathly silence settled on the group, when the name of Mrs. Ray Bullock was pronounced as the lucky winner.

Tonight it is expected that an even larger crowd will be on hand to enjoy the fun, and prospects are good for a successful Carnival in every particular. More details will be given next week.

ELLOGG'S ACHIEVE

SCOOP WITH HISTORIC PICTURE

London, Ontario, (Special from London, England) Nov. 30, 1934 "The Kellogg Company of Great Britain, Ltd., in conjunction with the London, England, Daily Mail has secured special permission to feature an exclusive photograph of the actual wedding ceremony of Prince George and Princess Marina, taken inside Westminster Abbey."

For the first time in the history of the Daily Mail the front page will be devoted to news purposes. The photograph will occupy most of entire front page, and an offer will be made of a beautiful photogravure reproduction of the wedding scene in size 15 x 12". This will be sent free to anyone in Great Britain who sends in two packages tops from any of the Kellogg cereals.

The Daily Mail will rush pictures direct from the wedding scene back to their offices for Kellogg's approval, and will then rush prints by aeroplane to Manchester, England for their northern edition.

The Kellogg Company's unique offer will reach the breakfast tables of over two million British families—the daily circulation of the Daily Mail.

Kellogg's plants are located in London, Ontario; Sydney, Australia; and Battle Creek, Michigan.

DIGESTIBILITY OF CHEESE

Cheese is made easier of digestion by combining it with onions. When eaten with Wednesday evening last, and enjoyed a pleasant evening of games and conversation.

Couch grass is an extremely difficult weed to kill with so many different and the practice is not recommended by the Field Experiment Station, Dominion Department of Agriculture, unless under exceptional circumstances. Usually three sprayings of a two per cent solution are required, using 100 gallons per acre. The cost of this material, say at 10 cents a pound, would be $30 an acre, prohibitive for all ordinary conditions.

When used in cooking, care should be taken that the cheese is not heated to too high a temperature, as heat will toughen protein foods and make them harder to digest. Cheese is very thoroughly digested. It is all, or nearly all, used by the body to build new tissues and to provide energy for the body to do its work. For older boys and girls as well as adults, it is one of the best muscle builders.

MAKE OUR VISITORS

WELCOME

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement in this paper headed "So that our visitors will be sorry to leave." Canadians should consider this fact that each year tens of thousands of dollars, and some years hundreds of thousands of dollars are brought into Canada each year by our visitors who come to see the natural beauties of our scenery and to feel the spirit of this "Canada of Ours."

Speaking of the Tourist and Publicity Bureau, Premier R. B. Bennett said, as follows: "If we are going to invite people to this country, we must be honest with them. Courtesy costs nothing and is one of our greatest assets. Let us so treat strangers within our gates that it will be easy for them to come, pleasant for them to stay, and difficult for them to leave." There is a world of thought in this statement. We should be honest, courteous and thoughtful of the stranger that is with in our gates.

We are a young and growing country. We need the finance that the tourist traffic brings to us. We need the acquaintance that this trade will get for us with those who visit us. We need settlers, and we can only hope to obtain them as the possibilities of our country become known to those of our neighbors who come to visit us.

As Canadians we should do everything to make visitors stay pleasant. When we have family relatives come to visit us, we always put on our best front. We never allow them to see the dark side of the picture if we can prevent it. Why would it not be a good thing to keep the same thought in mind with regard to the tourists? The like good roads, let us help make them good and keep the good. They like to feel welcome, safe and contented. Educate the boys and girls to treat them with consideration and kindness as well as the older ones and they will want to come again and often to visit with us.

Before the tourist season of 1935 arrives let us think these things over and individually and collectively decide to do all we can to carry our leaders thought. "So that Our Visitors will be Sorry to leave."

HELP YOURSELF TO #### PLAY SAFE

In view of the many robberies that have taken place in Southern Alberta in the past few weeks, it has been suggested by Constable Ellis, R.C.M.P. that the public be asked to co-operate in playing safe, and preventing any heavy losses that may be avoided by caution and co-operation between the citizens and the police.

When the robberies are, that no large sums of money be kept in any stores; just keep on hand enough to carry on business with and put the rest in the bank every day. While a safe may be a help, it is not foolproof. The door could be repaired. Then if suspicious looking individuals and strange cars were reported to the police, it would give them something to work on, and provide evidence on any cases that come to court.

It seems to be quite an epidemic of robberies going on just now, and the full co-operation of Raymond people on this matter may help keep things safe and unmoistened in our town.

A WORD TO PARENTS

Parents, you should caution your children against playing along the streets near the plate glass windows in the business houses. Last week a window was broken when one little girl was pushed into it by her companion during an exciting game of tag. The cost to the parents of replacement will be heavy and will be quite a burden for them.

Frequently we see boys and girls playing on the railing inside the Post Office, turning around it and going through other antics. Some of these days, somebody's child is going to slip and put a foot or arm through the big window, and then there will be a big bill for someone to foot.

No one wants to deprive the kiddies of their fun, but their thoughtlessness when playing may easily cost a fond parent a month's wages in glass and doctor's bills if these large windows get broken. Before it is too late, just caution the children to keep away from these windows when playing, and play safe, then no one will be out of pocket, or out of patience with the necessity of paying for a large plate glass window.

News Notes

Quite a large number of growers are commencing to haul siloed beets this week, and those who have been hauling have had their quotas reduced.

"...So that Our Visitors will be Sorry to Leave"

"If we are going to invite people to this country, we must be honest with them... Courtesy costs nothing and is one of our greatest tourist assets... Let us so treat strangers within our gates that it will be easy for them to come, pleasant for them to stay, and difficult for them to leave."

RT. Hon. R. B. BENNETT, Prime Minister of Canada, to the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureau, November 6, 1934.

Canada's tourist activities represent more than a great industry from which everybody benefits. They provide an opportunity to create what the Prime Minister has described as "that feeling of neighbourliness" which is such a vital factor in building up cordial relations within the family of nations.

For both these reasons, may I urge upon the people of Canada the importance of showing consideration, courtesy and honesty to guests of our country? Let us all do those little acts of kindness which count for so much when one travels in a strange land.

We have a beautiful country. We must keep it so. We want our visitors to travel highways free from disfigurement, walk the streets of cities that are orderly and clean, and find at the end of every day's travel an inviting spot to rest. Canadians should turn their attention now to the important work of preparing for next year's tourist season.

As a nation, we are advertising abroad the attractions of Canada as a holiday land. We must see to it that our guests return home with only the happiest recollections—and the determination to come back again and again.

Nor should we forget, in planning our own vacations, that there are beauties to discover and friendships to be made in our neighbouring provinces. We live in one of the world's most glorious playgrounds—let us learn to know better the rich variety of its travel attractions.

WEEKLY LETTER

WINTER EGG PRODUCTION

Fresh eggs are scarce, prices are high and this is the time of the year the poultry man makes a good profit if his birds are in production. At the Station some of the pullets have been in production for three months or more and others are just coming in production. No secret process are entailed in achieving this, but two simple basic principles are followed. Early hatched birds of a productive strain and proper feeding methods combine to make possible good production when prices are high.

Balanced rations are used and this simply means that the materials required for making eggs are provided each bird in its feed in such amounts that an egg can be produced practically every day. While a fairly elaborate ration is used at the station, home grown grains properly supplemented form very satisfactory rations for egg production. However, farm grains alone do not supply enough of all the essential elements and supplements must be added for best results. Beef scrap is the protein supplement used at the station and bone meal is also added to the ration to supply necessary minerals. Cod liver oil is another essential supplement used to supply vitamins A and D which are of primary importance and without which the body functions of the birds do not take place normally.

Skim milk is provided to some of the birds at the station but sufficient is not available so that all can be fed this highly nutritious supplement to the grain ration. Whenever skim milk is available the purchased protein supplement can be greatly reduced, but it is questionable whether it should ever be entirely eliminated from the ration. Too many poultry producers fail to grasp the importance of the protein supplement to a ration and yet it does appear so logical that a bird cannot be expected to produce eggs if the necessary materials are not supplied to her.

Fortunately the better class of poultry producers are paying more and more attention to the principles of feeding and are reaping the benefits of this in increased returns.

In addition to the mash and scratch, charcoal and oyster shell are placed in hoppers where the birds can get at them all the time. While charcoal has no actual feed value it appears to have a regulatory effect on the digestive system of the birds. The oyster shell supplies lime required in the manufacture of egg shell.

Two feeding methods are employed at the station, one the mash and scratch and the other the all mash system. The first mentioned is that most commonly used and has a number of advantages, but the all mash system requires less labour and attention in feeding as all the feed is strictly self fed. We have found that when the birds first become accustomed to this system of feeding it appears to be as satisfactory as others. Some feeders have found difficulty in keeping their birds in satisfactory body condition when the scratch is not fed, but this may be partly due to the ration not being properly balanced.

Bulletins and circulars dealing with poultry feeding can be obtained from the Experimental Station.

You should be getting in your order now for Christmas Greeting Cards. Our service and prices are unexcelled by none.—The Recorder.

YOUR GROCER CAN HELP YOU TO Keep on the Sunny Side of Winter

Raw, bleak days bring a change in living habits. You get less outdoor exercise — less vitalizing sunshine. At this time of year you must maintain your strength and energy to help ward off colds and other winter infections.

Your grocer can help you to sunny living. On his shelves you'll find Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, the cereal that helps keep you free from common constipation, due to insufficient "bulk." This ailment is the most frequent cause of sluggish days, loss of appetite and energy.

You can correct common constipation safely by proper diet. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly. Its gentle bulk, much like that in leafy vegetables, aids elimination. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in severe cases. If not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Unlike cathartics, the same amount of ALL-BRAN continues to be effective when served regularly. Sold by all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

D. O. WIGHT NOMINATED BY CARDSTON LIBERALS

At the Nominating Convention in Cardston, Monday, D. O. Wight, Editor of the Cardston News, was chosen to carry the Liberal Banner in the forthcoming Provincial election. W. R. Howson, J. J. Bowler and other Liberal leaders were present and addressed a well attended meeting in the evening at which the Liberal platform was advanced and spoken on by the visitors. Mr. Wight won on a third ballot over four other nominees, and will likely draw a good vote in the election to be held.

Hay, Straw or Other Fodder

WANTED

Will be purchasing fodders of all descriptions until June 1, 1935, for export. Any fodders purchased by me must be of average quality and of feeding value. POULTRY SHIPPERS BEWARE OF FANCY MARKET PRICES

Now that the rush season for poultry marketing is at hand, the prospective shippers are naturally considering which produce house they will send their offerings of turkeys, ducks, geese, chicken and fowl to.

In past years, particularly just after the holidays, it has

How not TO LIGHT A BRIDGE TABLE

Think of trying to play bridge by the light of two candles, stuck in bottle tops. Yet that is the equivalent of the light in many homes—a level of illumination that will make any party drag.

For gay, livelier parties, use an indirect portable lamp. It provides the ideal light—shadowless and glareless—for playing bridge and other games in comfort, and an equally efficient light for a quiet evening of reading. Your dealer will gladly show you the newest styles in indirect portable lamps.
